FOREWORD

This brochure presents all of the amendments to the Nomenclature appended to the International Convention on the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System which have been accepted as a result of the Customs Co-operation Council Recommendation of 25 June 1999, which will enter into force on 1 January 2002.

All of the legal texts of the amendments have been reproduced and their background, nature and scope are briefly explained. The amendments are commented on individually item by item.

The introduction sets out the origin and general scope of the updating project and outlines the rules for assigning code numbers to the subheadings created or amended. The Annexes provide specific information on the scope of the amendments.

This brochure is designed to facilitate the interpretation and implementation of the legal texts but is only a guide and has no legal status.

INTRODUCTION

I. Background to the updating of the Harmonized System (HS)

The Preamble to the International Convention on the Harmonized Commodity Description and Coding System emphasizes the importance of ensuring that the Harmonized System is kept up to date in the light of changes in technology and patterns of international trade.

Article 7 of the Convention further states that it is for the HS Committee to propose such amendments to the Convention as may be considered desirable, having regard, in particular, to the needs of users.

At its First Session, the HS Committee decided to set up the Harmonized System Review Sub-Committee, which has the task of revising the HS in accordance with the Committee's general indications and preparing the necessary amendments to the HS Nomenclature.

The Committee also agreed to allow an interval of four to six years between each Recommendation amending the HS Nomenclature under Article 16 of the HS Convention.

In this context, it was decided to effect a general review of the HS Nomenclature, and a draft amendment was submitted to the Council by the HS Committee on the basis of the texts drawn up by the Review Sub-Committee.

At its 93rd/94th Sessions held in Brussels from 21 to 23 June 1999, the Council adopted the Article 16 Recommendation amending the Harmonized System.

On 1 July 1999, the Secretary General of the WCO notified Contracting Parties of the amendments adopted by the Council, drawing attention to Article 16.2 of the Convention which stipulates that any Contracting Party may notify the Secretary General of an objection to a recommended amendment.

Having received an objection to the recommended amendments to new Subheading Note 2 to Chapter 85 and subheadings 8524.31 to 8524.40 and 8524.91, those amendments were deleted from the Recommendation.

All other recommended amendments were deemed to be accepted and will enter into force on 1 January 2002 in accordance with Article 16.4 (b) of the Convention.

II. General scope of the amendments

This Recommendation is the third to amend the Harmonized System under the Article 16 procedure since the Council approved the Harmonized System Convention in 1983, though it is only the second to make major amendments of the Harmonized System. This Recommendation includes 373 sets of amendments, divided as follows: agricultural sector: 59; chemical sector 121; paper sector 26; textile sector 29; base metal sector 18; machinery sector : 37; other sectors: 83.

The Committee did not confine itself to examining matters linked to changes in technology or patterns of international trade. The opportunity was taken to clarify certain texts in order to facilitate the uniform application of the HS and to provide legal certainty with regard to classification decisions taken by the Committee. Other texts have been amended to render them more consistent with scientific or customary terminology or with trade practice.

Environmental and social concerns are major features of this Recommendation. Many amendments relate to the protection of the environment (e.g., creation of new subheadings for the identification of certain specific categories of waste, the monitoring and control of certain live animals under the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Fauna and Flora (CITES)) and the social field (creation of new subheadings to facilitate the monitoring and control of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances) (see Annex B).

The following examples show other main sources of the amendments made to the Nomenclature:

- Technological progress : Revision of subheadings for smartcards and other electronic integrated circuits and microassemblies; amendment of the text of heading 85.25 and Note 1 (h) to Chapter 90 for digital cameras.
- Trade patterns : Deletion of 65 subheadings on account of the low volume of trade (see Annex A); modification of the structured nomenclatures of headings (e.g., headings of Chapters 41, 48, 60) to take account of changes in trade patterns.
- Clarification of texts to ensure uniform application of the HS : Amendment of the text of heading 39.22 concerning sinks; creation of new Note 6 to Chapter 90 for orthopaedic appliances; modification of the texts of subheading 3926.20, Note 2 (f) to Chapter 40 and Note 1 (u) to Chapter 95 concerning gloves, modification of Note 3 (a) to Chapter 85 and the text of subheading 8509.10 concerning dry and wet vacuum cleaners.
- Adaptation of the Nomenclature to reflect trade practice : Amendments of Note 1 (e) to Chapter 84 and heading 84.67 and deletion of heading 85.08 to transfer electro-mechanical tools for working in the hand of present heading 85.08 to heading 84.67.

The amendments therefore reflect changes in trade and technology but, in addition, they reinforce the multipurpose nature of the Nomenclature by taking account of the needs of the various users.

III. Assignment of code numbers to amend subheadings

The HS Nomenclature's objectives include the facilitation of international trade and the collection, comparison and analysis of trade statistics. To achieve these objectives, the stability of the HS structure and the historical continuity of trade statistics have to be maintained.

Given the intervals at which the HS is reviewed and the scale of the amendments in the Recommendation of 25 June 1999 and their impact on the structure of the HS Nomenclature, it proved necessary to lay down general principles regarding the numbering of new or modified subheadings and the reuse of deleted code numbers.

It was therefore decided to adopt the following rules, provided they are compatible with the structure of the HS :

- (a) Code numbers are changed only where there is an amendment to the text of a heading or subheading and where there is a significant change of scope in the subheading(s) concerned.
- (b) The renumbering referred to in (a) above is confined to the specific subheadings (at one-dash level, fifth digit; or at two-dash level, sixth digit); the code numbers of those residual subheadings whose scope has been amended remain unchanged.
- (c) The code numbers of deleted subheadings are not reused until a certain period has elapsed, unless unavoidable.

It became clear, however, when finalizing the amended texts that the structure of the HS does not allow a uniform and systematic application of these principles, certain subheadings have been significantly modified in scope but retain the same code number (see Annex C). For example, code numbers 8419.39, 8419.89, 8419.90, 8422.30, 8422.40, 8422.90, 8424.30, 8424.90, 8467.91 and 8467.99 have been maintained though the subheadings have been expanded to cover electro-mechanical domestic appliances with self-contained electric motors. The transfers result from the amendment of Note 1 (e) to Chapter 84 and heading 84.67 and the deletion of heading 85.08 and subheadings 8508.10 to 8508.90.

It is also pointed out that not reusing the code numbers of deleted subheadings disrupts the continuity (systematic order of the code numbers) adopted when the HS Nomenclature was prepared and leads to gaps in the numbering. By way of example, the first two-dash subheading under 4802.5 is '4802.54', whereas logically it should be '4802.51'. Similarly, the first one-dash subheading of new heading 60.02 is numbered '6002.40' and not '6002.10'.

Explanation of the amendments

Notes

The table below shows only those parts of the Harmonized System, which are affected by the WCO Council Recommendation of 25 June 1999 to amend the Harmonized System. The amendments will come into effect on 1 January 2002.

The left hand column ("Harmonized System 1996 version") contains the texts of relevant Section, Chapter or Subheading Notes, and headings and subheadings, as they presently exist (i.e., 1996 edition). The centre column contains the corresponding texts as they will read following the implementation of the Council Recommendation.

The underlined texts (except for the references to Chapters) indicate the HS 2002 amendments. However, editorial amendments have been omitted from this table and the left hand column shows the reference "[omitted]".

It should be noted that the content of a heading or subheading may have changed without the text of a heading or subheading being amended. For example, the scope of a residual subheading may have been expanded because of the deletion of a specific subheading within the same heading. In that case the deleted subheading is shown in the left hand column, while the centre column shows the reference "[deleted]". The right hand column contains the remarks that the content of the deleted subheading has been transferred to the specified subheading.

(pages 1 to 35)

(pages 1 to 26)

INTRODUCTION

This brochure contains the tables correlating the 1996 and 2002 versions of the Harmonized System, as drawn up by the World Customs Organization Secretariat in accordance with instructions received from the Harmonized System Committee.

Though these Correlation Tables were examined at a session of the Harmonized System Committee, they are not to be regarded as constituting classification decisions taken by that Committee; they constitute a guide published by the Secretariat and whose sole purpose is to facilitate implementation of the 2002 version of the Harmonized System. They do not have legal status.

During the discussions within the Review Sub-Committee and the Harmonized System Committee aimed at amending the HS Nomenclature, several differing views emerged concerning the present classification of certain goods, without the Committee ruling officially on their classification. It was agreed that the Tables should be as comprehensive as possible and thus include correlations supported by several Contracting Parties, even if the subheadings mentioned did not reflect the views expressed by the majority within the Committee.

Table I establishes the correlation between the 2002 version and the 1996 version of the HS. It contains remarks opposite certain correlations briefly specifying the nature of the goods transferred. In many cases, reference has also been made to the amended legal provisions. In addition, where differing views emerged within the Harmonized System Committee concerning the present classification of certain goods, an annotation has been added opposite the subheadings concerned.

Table II establishes the correlation starting from the 1996 version. It is simply a mechanical transposition of Table I and therefore includes no remarks.
